Internet Access

You may use a public or private internet without paying if it does not cost the owner or slow down the owner's use of it (or if the owner gives you permission!) and as long as doing so does not violate the secular law wherever you are.

© Copyright 2026 Richard B. Aiken | www.practicalhalacha.com